Savings income falling into the first £2,440 of taxable income will be taxed at 10%. This is only available if your only source of taxable income is from savings income. Any non savings income above the £2,440 will mean that all income will be taxed at 20%. Dividends will continue to be taxed at 10% up to the basic rate tax band and 32.5% thereafter of the gross dividend. Any taxable dividend income above £150,000 will be charged at a new 42.5% tax rate.

From 2010-11 the personal allowance for basic rate taxpayers will increase (£1,000) to £7,475. The basic rate tax threshold will be reduced so that higher rate taxpayers will not benefit from this increase in the allowance. In addition the allowance will be reduced £1 for every £2 of income over £100,000 up to a maximum of the full personal allowance. This means that no personal allowance will be given to those earning over £114,950.

ISA's

The annual ISA allowance will remain at £10,200 of which a maximum of £5,100 can be held as cash, but they will now be applicable to all savers and not just those over 50. From 2011-12 the limits will rise annually with inflation. No tax is payable on any interest, dividends or capital gains on ISA investments.
